

Measuring the Complexity of All the Art

Jonathan Langke and Peter Boothe

April 11, 2013

Abstract

We have measured (using Racket and MiniKanren) the Kolmogorov Complexity of all possible 2x2 and 3x2 artworks. We have also conducted a survey of the relative perceived visual complexity of these artworks. In this paper, we discuss both our generation strategy as well as the results of our online survey.

- 1 Introduction
- 2 Generating The Art
- 3 Assessing Visual Complexity
- 4 Results
- 5 Future Work